5. Where do we go from here

Dave Hawley gave the following statement

“I have become increasingly concerned at the group’s ability to make decisions on which sites we should advocate. There are many differing views. Our meetings have become confrontational and I think it will become increasingly difficult to get agreement on sites. My concerns came to a head after the recent public meeting. Although not present I have had a detailed conversation with the Chairman of the meeting. We now have at least 5 groups fighting their corner, Pennine Way, Akesmore Lane, The Sewerage Farm group, Newpool Road and now Knypersley.

I do not now believe that we as a group will get total agreement and much more importantly I do not believe that anything we recommend will be approved by the people of Biddulph. There are now too many people fighting their own corner without a thought as to where these houses should be built as long as it is not close to them. Also anything we could recommend would have to be within the constraints of the green belt review, any changes we made would have to have better planning reasons than what we leave out, potentially leaving us with a challenge from developers. If we wanted to change some sites then we would have to ask all potential site owners to put forward a case not just those we fancied.

Chris Wood at the public meeting threw into the ring the Childerplay Road site and land adjacent to the Victoria Business Park, both adjacent to the Biddulph boundary. These apparently were well received, although whether there were many residents from these areas at the meeting and what their views are, I do not know. Since most of the people at the meeting were from Gillow Heath and Biddulph North.

Perhaps I was a little naive in thinking that the people of Biddulph would look for a compromise and from the workshops we held it seemed as that was what they wanted. Now the chips are down it seems otherwise.

I believe we should submit our comments/suggestions to the SMDC planners, highlighting the sites we agree and our suggestions where they haven't been included, but as far as the rest are concerned we have given them suggestions to look at. I believe that we should leave it to them to get comments, review these sites and then come up with proposals. They are independent and have no axe to grind with any specific site. All local resident groups can then have their say and fight it out with the District Council. The people on this group can then fight their own corner without any concern that they are limited by the group. Although I do have further concerns that if the local residents push it too far SMDC will be unable to put together a plan and in that case the Government Inspectors will step in and make the decisions for them and that will be a lot worse than the local residents expect.

We can still push that they use existing brown field sites and also ask that they come back and discuss with us their findings before they are published.

I am therefore saying that we take out the site allocation from the Neighbourhood Plan and focus on the issues which affect the way the town should be developed over the next fifteen years, ie Promoting the Local Economy, Preserving Local Heritage Culture and Tourism, Community and Wellbeing, Housing need and design, Protecting the Environment, Improving Infrastructure.

If we cannot produce a plan which would be accepted then I cannot justify spending council taxpayers money on something that will not get approval. Therefore the only way for us to progress the Neighbourhood Plan is to do so without site allocations.

In order to progress, we need to know what the SMDC site allocations are likely to be, so I'm also saying that we close down for the summer and see what SMDC come up with. Since what we decide depends largely on what they recommend and then we can progress from there."

Angie Turner proposed that this group does not spend any more time on housing allocation, seconded by Ken Harper. A vote was taken with most being agreement, and four abstentions.

Dave Hawley would send a press release stating that site allocation was the remit of the District Council.

6. Comments for meeting with planners

Representatives from this group – Dave Hawley, Graeme Court, Angie Turner and Philippa Walley - would be meeting the following day with District Council Planning/Regeneration Officers – Joanna Bagnall; Claire Sansom and Mark James.

It was proposed by Ken Harper and seconded by Margaret Jones that a copy of the Biddulph Neighbourhood Plan site information sheet with the Yes/No column deleted would be passed to the DC Officers. This was agreed with 2 abstentions.

It was expected that updates on the timescale for the Local Plan would be received.

It was agreed that the amended site information sheet would be circulated to all working group members.

7. Next steps

Bill Hockey had forwarded a site selection scoring system to assist with the next stage.

Paul Kasperowicz asked when other agencies Fire Police etc would become involved Dave Hawley responded that this would be at the group stage.

The following groups would be set up
Promoting the Local Economy
Preserving Local Heritage Culture and Tourism
Community and Wellbeing
Housing Need and Design

Protecting the Environment
Improving Infrastructure
